of the appointment is Rs 100–10–150 and the permanent incumbent was drawing Rs 120/- when he vacated it.

4. Two out of the six first grade Accountants in my office passed in some of the Subjects the Higher Departmental Examination held in 1896 and one has very recently passed it in all the Subjects.

5. I understand that Subramania Iyer was getting Rs 150 a month and if his case is to be treated as a Special one and he be appointed to act as Examiner on the same pay, which happens to be the maximum pay of the Examiner, it will be in contravention of Article 99 of the Imperial Service Regulations and in supersession of the two partially and the one fully qualified first grade Accountants of my office and will involve an immediate expenditure of Rs 30 a month. Subramania Iyer will also draw as acting Examiner 30 Rs more than the permanent one and 20 Rs more than one of the permanent Examiners now in the office

6. I also understand that Subramania Iyer has had absolutely no experience either in the Compilation or Audit of any Accounts & cannot therefore be entrusted with the responsible duties of supervising, ~~and~~ examining and passing the work done by experienced auditors and accountants.

4. I am therefore employing him only in the Records Branch of my Office as Second Grade Accountant on Rs 65/- till such time that he passes both the Departmental Examinations and qualifies himself for higher grades. The difference of Rs 85/- to make up Rs 150/- will have to be treated as a personal allowance, subject to periodical ~~reduction~~ as he receives promotion.

5. This will involve an excess expenditure of Rs 45/-. I therefore beg that you will be so good as to obtain ~~further~~ order of Government and the requisite sanction for the above excess expenditure.

I have the honor to be,
Sir
Your most obedient Servant,

Comptroller
Govt of Mysore.

ADDENDA TO THE ~~ACCOUNT~~ Comptr's OFFICE MANUAL.

Order thereon:

Under the foregoing circumstances, Government are unable to help Subrahmanya Iyer. He has very short service, and he could not be employed on the Dewan's Staff, and there is no appointment carrying such high pay. Government cannot sanction any additional expenditure or personal allowance. Regarding the provisional appointment, referred to above, the vacancy is appears to be a temporary one and it is a matter

In the first of the above orders, the Comptroller was informed that Sri Bramanya Iyer might be employed if possible in his office. The Comptr reported that he could not employ him in the accounts dept to and sought the order of Govt concerning a separate alternative arrangement proposed by him. Before the matter was disposed of, the Comptr has reported that he have an appte in the Accts branch subject to the required qualifying tests being passed in future.

~~The~~ Government having already expressed an opinion that if Subr. Iyer could not be provided for in ordinary course both any appointment, his services should be dispensed with from ~~the~~ 1st of June, it ~~was~~ is ~~fair on the part of the Comptr to~~ difficult to understand why the Comptr should have gone out of his way in devising exceptional ~~and unusual~~ modes of treatment in this case. The appointment was one of a temporary nature; and was ~~abo~~ abolished as being no longer required. Neither the nature of the post nor the services of the person ~~are~~ is of a kind to call for any exceptional consideration being shown. The Comptr's second recommendation, moreover, seems to be opposed to his first one and Govt cannot accord sanction to any additional personal allowance or matter for consideration whether the Comptroller is right in making the appointment conditional on terms which may not be fulfilled before the vacancy comes to an end. If the office (rules) requires a preliminary qualification, Govt would not violate (them) on personal grounds. (The services of Subrahmanya Iyer are under the circumstances, dispensed with.)

to the relaxation of any rules in force requiring qualifying examinations being passed.

As the Compr= can not presumably find any employment for this person in ordinary course, I would direct that his services ~~may~~ be ~~do forth~~ ~~with~~ dispensed with.
